3. Reading

Read the statements below the text about home schooling. Then read the text and decide if each statement is (C) correct or (I) incorrect.

Write your answers in the table below the statements.

Text "Home Schooling"

According to recent statistics, over two million children in the United States are receiving their education at home. For many parents who want their children to be taught in a more unconventional manner, home schooling is becoming the preferred choice.

These parents come from all walks of life and have many different reasons for wanting to educate their children themselves. Some choose home schooling because they are concerned about the values taught in state schools. Others are worried about the dangers of sending their children to large schools, which may be some distance from home or have children with health problems. Some simply feel that they can offer more to their children than a teacher who has twenty or even thirty children in the class.

There are many benefits to home schooling. First of all, parents who educate their children at home have the freedom to decide what to teach and how to teach it, as they do not have to follow a set plan and use set teaching methods. They can therefore teach their children more than just facts and help them to learn vital life skills. In addition to this, they have a more flexible schedule and are therefore able to spend more time together as a family. Moreover, children can learn at their own pace and study subjects which are not included in the school curriculum. They can become involved in their own education and take responsibility for it. In this way, they do not have to wait until they leave school to explore their own interests and passions.

Learning about topics which interest them at a speed which suits them gives children a great sense of achievement and motivates them to learn even more. Therefore, learning becomes its own reward, as the children enjoy developing their understanding and knowledge of the world around them. When a child's curriculum is directly linked to them, they will never get bored or feel that what they are learning is useless. Children who are educated at home also learn how to find out information for themselves by using resource books or researching on the Internet instead of relying on a teacher to give them all the answers. In other words, they are encouraged to think for themselves and use their initiative.

So for those parents who choose not to educate their children the traditional way, home schooling is not just an alternative option. It's a choice which has to do with freedom, responsibility and the joy of learning.

Statements

1. People who educate their children at home have the same background.
2. Many children contract illnesses in state schools.
3. Some parents are sure that it is safer to educate their children at home.
4. Children usually receive more parents' attention if they are educated at home.
5. Parents who teach their children at home are forced to follow a certain teaching plan.
6. Home schooling gives a good opportunity for children to make their own decisions about their education.
7. While learning at home, children are more motivated.
8. Children who study at home spend too much time on the internet.
9. Children educated at home turn into independent learners.
10. The author of the text is more likely positive about home schooling.
